The Mobil Pinnacle, which joined the fleet in October, is the second 212,000-deadweight-ton vessel to be owned by Mobil. The first joined the fleet in 1969, two more are to go into service later this year, and a fifth is on order for 1973. In addition, Mobil has ordered a 265,000-tonner, to be delivered in 1974.

● KTAO ooooo Hx 95.3 ●

KTAO mails out a weekly program guide to assorted freeloaders and, as well, to those who care for our programming enough to mail annual checks for $15 (regular), or $7.50 for nine months (if poor or out-of-sorts), or $1 a month (for lousy bookkeepers.) The checks go to pay for the cost of the guide [$75 a week] --- and to help defray all those male chauvanist bills which threaten to dismay us. Subscriptions should be mailed to:

KTAO --- in cheerful gall --- likes to bill itself as a cooperative volunteer commercial free-form broadcast heliotrope. What this means to the layman (that's us) is that the station is completely operated by volunteers who, as well, as of this month, come to participate in the ownership of the outlet. Although we are too compulsive to run the thing as a complete and tee-total anarchy: we still like to give on-the-air people a fair amount of freedom to pick the musics and talk that they want to put on the air. There is conflict and controversy in this, natch: but we like to think that the station presents a nice variety of jazz, blues, folk, ethnic, classical, and rock music.

We are on the air 24 hours and tend to move, in our music, through the daily cycle AS IF IT WERE LIFE.

That's how bizarre this all is.

ANOTHER OF THE USUAL DIATRIBES AGAINST

P R O G R E S S

"300,000," they say in their mailings.
"Population growth. Santa Clara County.
Next ten years." And with the neverending neverdying alwaysBabbitt mentality ---
The San Jose Chamber of Commerce* proudly lifts its rheumy eyes above the brown-
black smog, lifting the visage above
the trash-heaps and plastic people-eater apartments (where once bloomed a million peach, and prune, and pear trees) and they breathe: "300,000. Grow. People.
Next decade." Wow. And some of us (who dare) think: This area needs another 300,000 people like it needs a nice oil
spill, or a smelter and refining plant.
300,000 more people. 150,000 more cars.
Eight more freeways. I think I am going to die: and the Chamber of Commerce does not worry for a moment about the coming stink and smell and wretchedness of it all.

In some announcements we ran last month,
we suggested that if the people living in this area didn't especially like the idea --- the idea of that mob screaming brawling racing in, trampling on what's left of the orchards, jamming what's left of the parks, bringing their filthy Eastern (US) habits with them --- that if the locals felt that despite the Booster rah-rah columns in the Mercury-News and the East San Jose Sun and all the other 1955
weekly newspapers: and if they thought

*At present the C of C is operating in disguise as "The Metropolitan Associations of San Jose." A name

change is in the

that Chamber activities might be directed in more creative areas, then they might give them a call and tell them so. We even supplied the number.

Well, I guess they got a call or two, and they called us --- in the guise of Mr. Don Woodside, Manager of Economic Development--- and asked what the hell was going on, and we invited him down for an interview, and he did.*

During the interview what I noticed was that after we had beat on him for thirty minutes of so, he just began to shut up, and rearrange his papers, and make obvious signs that as far as he was concerned, the whole thing was over. I mean, we could ask him things like "Have you ever looked up at all that brown stuff in the sky and thought 'I'm partially responsible for that?'" or we could say "David Brower says that when you prepare for growth --- then it comes: and with a vengance. What do you think of that?" And he just sits there, adjusting his folder, and stifling a yawn; more or less ignoring the questions. After all, we are just the KTAO Ecological crazies---and he's been doing the Chamber of Commerce game for ten years, and he knows who has the final say, the final clout.

After that was all over, we got real hot, and steamed out about ten ads, or spots (really: non-ads) for the Chamber of Commerce. Which now we run at least four times a day. For free. We don't charge them a cent for the chance to have their activities mentioned on radio. Here's a typical one:

*In keeping with a general name change at that august organization, Mr. Woodside told us his title had been changed to "Manager of Industrial Development."

"They don't talk about it very much --- but $140,000 a year of your tax money goes directly to the San Jose Chamber of Commerce to attract new industry to the area and --- some people would claim --- to attract more and more population to our already overcrowded Santa Clara County. $50,000 a year comes from the San Jose City General Fund and goes to the 'promotion' and 'development' activities of the Chamber of Commerce. Another $90,000 comes from the Hotel-Motel Tax --- monies which, some would claim, might be better spent on ways to decrease area population and industry. If you feel strongly about this use of $140,000 of your city finances to encourage population growth, you might make contact with your favorite city councilmember or mayor: and you can reach them each day at 292-3141. Or, if you would like to make contact with the San Jose Chamber of Commerce directly, you can get them at AWful 3-3161."

In keeping with the well known (and commendable) "Fairness Policy" of the Federal Communications Commission --- which requires that any attack or commentary on public affairs over a broadcast facility be accompanied by an offer to the party concerned for time to reply --- we mailed carbons of our ten non-ads to the Chamber. We resisted the temptation to include a bill (we figure we are giving them FREE over $350 worth of advertising a month) but, as was our duty, offered them adequate time to reply. We told them we would prefer the interview technique, and had visions of 2 or 3 hour long interviews a month with each of the Brontosaurus on the Chamber Board of Directors. However, what happened was --- instead --- a terse telephone call from one John Marks, Director of Public Relations.

Mr. Marks merely called to point out to us some of the errors in the copy. He mentioned that the organization was called the Association of Metropolitan San Jose. We pointed out that there was a name-change in the works, but that a horse of a different color looked the same to us. He stated that the $90,000 was not taxpayers money, that it was from the hotel-motel tax. We suggested that a tax is a tax is a tax, and that if the city was going to lift that money from visitors --- we could damn well think of some better uses for it than funding another idiotic year of the Chamber. He also pointed out that the number of the Association was 293-3161, not AWful 3-3161. We declined comment on that one. Finally, he said that it was a good thing that we had sent copies of the ads to him "because of the FCC Equal Time rules." He went on: "You sure as hell wouldn't want to get your nuts caught in the wring⁹ on the legal aspects of this thing." [That colorful phrase is a direct quote.] We pointed out that Equal Time is only a political FCC rule (for elections) but that we would be delighted to have him or any other member of the Chamber drop by for an interview anytime, even though we would run their 60" spots if they insisted.

Unable to attend graduation exercises of his class because of illness, young Lester Picker of San Diego had connections made and broadcasted his graduation speech from his home.

"Mamma won't care! Water
can't hurt her Corset!"

WARNER'S RUST-PROOF

We also refrained from any comments on the testicular aspects of the whole imbroglio; although there was a moment, an insane moment, where we wanted to comment to Mr. Marks that our relationships with our Maytag were our own affair, and he could take his suggestions and stuff them. Tempted, mind you: I said tempted. As usual, we kept our cool and said nothing of the sort. As usual.

months ago, the radio club of Cupertino decided to apply for a FM station. They did, and got a permit, and now Dana Jang tells what he wants to do with it. Live.

12:30 PEOPLE MUSIC. One of the occasional tapes sent us by W Alexander Hamilton of Berkeley: A Birgitte Grimstad Concert of Scandanavian Music (until 1:30).

2 PM Indian Music. Three hours, with Indi Higham. With readings.

7 PM The Goodge Hour. Old Jazz.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 21

11 AM From the old days of MEA. Sandy Jacobs has to be one of the masters of light and sound (before anyone cared). For years, he ran a weird barge-studio in Sausalito, in which he created visual and audio madness. We have three or four recordings from that period, and will play them today entire until one. Including Jacobs, Alan Watts, R. Garfias, et al.

2 PM Jeb Henley snorts, says "Right Arm," and plays some outrageous music.

7 PM Blues from The Slipped Disc.

8 PM Hugh McAllorum in the disguise of The African Master (until 10:30 PM).
